

THE RESERVE

"Luxury is not a number, it is a lifestyle. It is not about being the biggest or the brightest or the first, it is about the subtle details that differentiate the ordinary from the extraordinary. The Reserve at Al Barari is unmatched in quality and is the realisation of a vision that started as our family's personal journey to create a living space that fulfilled our own requirements and definition of luxury", commented, Zaal Mohamed Zaal, Chairman of Al Barari.

As Dubai realises its potential as a truly international centre of financial and cultural significance, The Reserve at Al Barari, answers the demand from discerning international buyers who no longer view the city as temporary or transient to long term residents, who seek a more considered, pared-back and understated luxury, focused on the details that define quality of life; enhanced living space, integration with the natural environment and a home finished to their own tastes.
